

Jeju Island

Jeju Island (Jeju do), the largest island in Korea, is located southwest of the Korean peninsula on the Korean Strait. It is known in Korea for its uniqueness and mystery and is the only self-governing province in the country. Jeju is 46 miles from east to west, 26 miles from north to south, and in the shape of an oval. The island has a circuit road of 116.8 miles along the seashores with a population is about 530,000.

In the center of the island sits Halla Mountain, which was a volcano that rose over a mile above sea level. About 360 smaller cones named "Orum" around the island show the turbulent past of the island. It is influenced by the oceanic and continental climates making the weather very mild, with an average temperature of about 61 °F.

With the differing elevations and soil content, over 1,800 different plants can be found on Jeju. Plants from cold to subtropical regions grow here. Jeju holds rich underground resources and multitudes of fish and coral in the clean blue sea. Jeju is an international tourist resort, attracting over 4 million tourists from all over the world.

Jeju was used as a banishment island for political scholars in the Chosun Dynasty (1390–1910). The banished scholars thrived and advanced the culture and teachings of Confucianism. Jeju is the Korean honeymooners dream; 60% of newly married couples in South Korea come to Jeju. If you are looking for the vacation by the beach that you hadn't thought of yet, Jeju Island is it. Jeju has so much to offer: unique history, natural wonders, entertainment, hotels, and shopping.

Sungsan`s Peak

Many tourists regard Sungsan`s Peak at sunrise as the most impressive tourist site on Jeju Island. Even those not willing to rise early enough for the sunrise still choose the site as one of the top destinations. Get up early and climb up to the summit for the best view of the sunrise.

Chunjeyun Waterfall

Legend has it that Chunjeyun Waterfall was named after seven nymphs who assisted the heaven's emperor to descend at night to bathe and play in the water. Flanked with dense trees, the three waterfalls provide a magnificent sight. The first waterfall cascades from a 66-foot cliff into a 63-foot deep pond. The second waterfall continues until the water from the third waterfall flows into the ocean. Lush plants grow on the walls of the gorge.

Chungbang Waterfall

Listening to the waterfall thundering as it cascades into the sea is quite an attraction and draws many tourists to the area. Other tourist sites to enjoy around the Chungbang Waterfall are Sochongbang and Chungbang Cave. Chungmun Tourist Complex offers water sports, a golf course and a Pacific themed leisure centre. A major amusement park, Cheju World, provides fun for lovers of thrills, rides, and natural attractions.

Hallim Park is beautifully decorated with exotic plants. The plants are divided into 16 sectors including the Tropical Botanical Garden, Palm Tree Garden, Foliage Plant Garden, and Kiwi Fruit Garden. Other famous tourist sites in Hallim Park are Hyeopjae Cave and Ssangyong Cave. There is also a folk village, children's amusement park, and outdoor resort facilities that make Hallim Park a place to enjoy for both children and adults.
